

"I am Born" Poem
By Lynn Asso

I am born on a Friday at AUBMC
Lebanon, Beirut
Middle East
A country caught

between being terrified and dreadful!

And yes I am born on the same day
Martin Luther King Jr. was assassinated

I am born in a muslim family
And if you don't know, we are the people who follow or practice
Islam, a monotheistic Abrahamic religion
And I really appreciate this decision!

I was born to be something big,
I was born to fly,
I was born to look into the world,
With the sweetest smile.

I was born to defeat insecurities,
I was born to win,
I was born to be in reality,
And yet love my own world!

I am sure I could defeat the problems
And succeed to fly like robins
I am born to make unbelievers believe
So that their goals they would achieve

Because I wasn't born to crawl
But to assist you all
